

Seed Extension Round successfully closed

heycare secures around €4 million for further growth

With Scalehouse Capital and Swiss Post Ventures, the Munich-based scale-up has gained renowned strategic partners for the expansion of its comprehensive Employee Assistance Programme (EAP) and family services.

Munich, 12 March 2026 – Munich-based scale-up heycare has successfully completed its extended seed round. Led by Scalehouse Capital as lead investor and Swiss Post Ventures as co-lead, the company is receiving fresh capital for further growth. Founders Anna Schneider and Julia Kahle are investing the funds in expanding their team. This is in response to increased demand in the area of operational teams.

heycare's customers already include industry giants such as Daimler Truck, Douglas, Vaillant and VW Retail.

„We are delighted to have Scalehouse Capital and Swiss Post Ventures, two strategically savvy partners, at our side,“ explains Julia Kahle, co-CEO and founder of heycare. „As an already profitable company, it was important for us to find investors who share our vision. We made a conscious selection and chose partners who can provide us with optimal support in scaling our platform.“

„Anna Schneider and Julia Kahle combine a clear vision for the future of employee assistance (EAP) with impressive implementation skills. In a short period of time, they have built up a strong customer base with heycare and developed a product that creates real added value for companies. We at Scalehouse Capital are looking forward to accompanying heycare as lead investor in its next growth phase,“ says Manuel Böhringer, Managing Partner at Scalehouse Capital.

Holistic health: everything from a single source

Founded in 2022 (formerly heynanny), the Bavarian company has quickly evolved from a specialised care provider to a comprehensive healthcare service provider. Today, heycare offers a digital platform that functions as a holistic Employee Assistance Programme (EAP) and family services.

The heycare app solves a central problem of the modern working world: the compatibility of work and private life. By providing care solutions for children, people in need of care and even pets, employees are noticeably relieved, which has been proven to reduce absenteeism in companies.

In addition, heycare focuses on prevention in the area of mental health. Mental resilience is strengthened through training, webinars and anonymous one-to-one consultations with psychologists. Since early 2026, the platform has also integrated Urban Sports Club's sports and wellness network to offer corporate customers a seamless health ecosystem.

Press Release

About hey)care:

hey)care (formerly heynanny) is a leading provider of comprehensive Employee Assistance Programmes (EAP) and family services. The digital platform helps companies radically simplify the work-life balance. Founded in 2022 by Anna Schneider and Julia Kahle, renowned customers such as Daimler Truck, Vaillant and VW Retail already rely on hey)care's comprehensive ecosystem. The company's vision is to empower employees through preventive health promotion and social support, thereby strengthening their loyalty to their companies. www.hey\)care.comcare.com)

About Scalehouse Capital:

Scalehouse Capital is a venture capital investor operating throughout Germany with a focus on efficient B2B software companies. Their fund brings together owners and founders of successful medium-sized companies and hidden champions. With this special industry access, they support the next generation of leading start-ups in their category. www.scalehouse-capital.com

About Swiss Post Ventures:

Swiss Post Ventures is the corporate venture arm of Swiss Post, investing in early-stage startups that shape the digital and physical infrastructure of tomorrow. With a focus that includes B2B software companies operating trusted digital ecosystems, logistics, HR, mobility, and public services, Swiss Post Ventures supports scalable technologies that align with Swiss Post's commitment to security, reliability, and societal value. venture.post.ch/en

Press Contact:

Sören Harder

Press Officer @ hey)care
+49 179 140 10 23
presse@hey\)care.comcare.com)
